

Contents

Foreword	3
Acknowledgements	5
Disclaimer	5
I The road to the Information Technology Agreement	6
A. Introduction	8
B. Sectoral initiatives in GATT history and the foundations of the ITA	8
C. Push by the private sector and other reasons to negotiate	11
D. A difficult first step: towards a Quad agreement	12
E. A broader group was needed for a deal in Singapore	15
F. Hanging by a thread: post-Singapore implementation	16
II The ITA Committee: 15 years of encouraging trade	24
A. Introduction	26
B. Implementing the ITA	26
C. Divergences in classification	29
D. Review of product coverage: ITA II	32
E. Programme for reducing NTBs on IT products	35
F. Encouraging greater participation in the ITA	38
III The impact of the trade liberalization brought by the ITA	42
A. Introduction	44
B. Slashing tariffs through the ITA	44
C. Trade flows: an ever-increasing but changing landscape	50
IV The ITA and innovation	64
A. Introduction	66
B. Innovation in IT: what is it and how do we measure it?	66
C. Evidence from intellectual property indicators	69
D. Challenges for innovation in the IT sector	76
V Global production networks, electronic products and developing countries	80
A. Introduction	82
B. Evidence of global production networks in electronic products	82
C. Case studies: smartphones	86
D. Vertical specialization: a way of estimating the impact of GPNs on trade	87
E. The impact of global production networks on developing countries	89

Appendix: Methodological challenges and assumptions	96
A. Attachment B items	97
B. Amendments to the HS	98
C. Partial coverage of HS subheadings	98
D. Definition of product categories	99
ITA: List of participants	107
Abbreviations	108