

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Abbreviations	x
A Note on Translation	xii
Preface	xiii
Introduction	1
The Theme	1
Biographical Sketch	3
Impressions	6
Brunner's Writings	11
A Brief Note on Scholarship	13
Plan of Study	16
1. Critically Idealistic Dialectical Theology?	19
I. Setting Out	19
a. Brunner and Religious Socialism in Switzerland	20
b. Early Essays	24
II. Reckoning with Modern Theology	32
a. The Problem	35
b. 'Provisional Half-Truths'	40
1. Psychologism	45
2. Intellectualism	49
3. Law and Dialectic	54
c. Schleiermacher	57
III. Reckoning with Karl Barth	67
a. Introducing Barth and Brunner (1916–18)	67
b. Brunner on Romans I (November 1918)	71
c. Brunner on Overbeck and Romans II (1920–22)	78
IV. Summary	86
2. Law and Revelation	89
I. Dichotomy or Dialectic?	90
a. The Theme	90

b.	Variations on a Theme	92
c.	The Method	94
II.	Law, Reason and Philosophy	96
a.	Kant Versus the Kantians	97
b.	'The Limits of Humanity'	99
c.	Philosophy and Theology	101
d.	Critical Idealism and Theology	104
III.	Curbing the Enthusiasm: The Laws of Reason	106
a.	Theoretical Reason	106
b.	Moral Reason	110
IV.	Radical Evil and Sin	115
V.	The Origin, the Law and the Imago Dei	119
VI.	Law and Revelation	125
a.	The Two-fold Meaning of the Law	125
b.	Revelation and Justification	127
c.	The End and Fulfilment of the Law	130
d.	The Delimitation of Revelation	131
VII.	Summary	134
3.	The Two Tasks of Theology	137
I.	Eristics as the Other Task of Theology	137
a.	'The Other Task of Theology'	137
b.	Barth and Brunner on Theological Method	143
c.	Phenomenology and Eristic Theology	148
d.	Applied Eristic Theology	151
1.	Religion	152
2.	Philosophy and the Sciences	155
3.	Ethics	158
4.	History	161
e.	Summary	169
II.	Dogmatic Theology in Der Mittler	170
a.	General and Special Revelation	171
b.	The Person and Work of the Mediator	176
c.	The Mediator and Reconciliation	183
d.	Atonement and Sacrifice	187
III.	Summary	195
4.	Nature and Grace	197
I.	Entering the Fray	197
a.	The Reception of the Debate	197
b.	First Skirmishes	202
c.	The Law and 'Brunner's Natural Theology'	211

II. Nature and Grace	214
a. Theses and Counter-Theses	216
1. Imago Dei	216
2. General and Special Revelation	224
3. Preserving and General Grace	229
4. The Orders of Creation and Preservation	232
5. The Point of Contact	237
6. New Creation	242
7. Summary	246
b. 'The Reformers' Doctrine and its Antithesis'	248
c. 'The Significance of Theologia Naturalis for Theology and The Church'	257
III. Summary	260
Conclusion	263
Bibliography	269
Unpublished and Archival Materials	277
Index	279