Part I Introduction to Simulation in Neurosurgery

- 1 History of Simulation . . . . . 3
Nabeel Saud Alshafai and Wafa Alduais

Part II Physical Models Simulation

- 2 Ventriculostomy Simulation in Neurosurgery . . . . . 17
Shivani Rangwala, Gregory Arnone, Fady T. Charbel, and Ali Alaraj
- 3 Physical Simulators and Replicators in Endovascular
Neurosurgery Training . . . . . 29
Chander Sadasivan, Baruch B. Lieber, and Henry H. Woo
- 4 3D Printed Models in Neurosurgical Training . . . . . 47
Kushal J. Shah, Jeremy C. Peterson, and Roukoz Chamoun
- 5 Synthetic Replica for Training in Microsurgical
Anastomosis: An Important Frontier in Neurosurgical Education . . . . . 65
Rudy J. Rahme, Chandan Krishna, Mithun G. Sattur, Rami James N. Aoun, Matthew E. Welz, Aman Gupta,
and Bernard R. Bendok
- 6 Endovascular Surgical Neuroradiology Simulation . . . . . 79
Teddy E. Kim, Mark B. Frenkel, Kyle M. Fargen,
Stacey Q. Wolfe, and J. Mocco

Part III Biological Models Simulation

- 7 Biological Models for Neurosurgical Training in Microanastomosis . . . . . 91
Evgenii Belykh, Michael A. Bohl, Kaith K. Almefty,
Mark C. Preul, and Peter Nakaji

8 Pseudoaneurysm Surgery Simulation Using the “Live Cadaver” Model for Neurosurgical Education . . . . .	103
Emad Aboud, Talal Aboud, Jaafar Basma, Hassan Saad, Wei Hsun Yang, Ghaith Aboud, and Ali Krisht
9 Use of Cadaveric Models in Simulation Training in Spinal Procedures . . . . .	119
Theodosios Stamatopoulos, Vijay Yanamadala, and John H. Shin
10 The Use of Simulation in the Training for Spinal Cord Stimulation for Treatment of Chronic Pain . . . . .	131
Konstantin V. Slavin and Dali Yin

Part IV Virtual Reality Simulation

11 Introduction to Haptics . . . . .	141
Edwing Isaac Mejia Orozco and Cristian Javier Luciano
12 Competency Assessment in Virtual Reality-Based Simulation in Neurosurgical Training . . . . .	153
Laura Stone McGuire and Ali Alaraj
13 Patient-Specific Virtual Reality Simulation for Minimally Invasive Neurosurgery . . . . .	159
Ralf A. Kockro and Luis Serra
14 Role of Immersive Touch Simulation in Neurosurgical Training . . . . .	185
Denise Brunozzi, Sophia F. Shakur, Amanda Kwasnicki, Rahim Ismail, Fady T. Charbel, and Ali Alaraj
15 Role of Surgical Simulation in Neurological Surgery and Aneurysm Clipping: The State of the Art . . . . .	199
Connie Ju, Jonathan R. Pace, and Nicholas C. Bambakidis
16 NeuroVR™ Simulator in Neurosurgical Training . . . . .	211
Denise Brunozzi, Laura Stone McGuire, and Ali Alaraj
17 Neurosurgical Anatomy and Approaches to Simulation in Neurosurgical Training . . . . .	219
Antonio Bernardo and Alexander I. Evins
18 Virtual Reality Simulation for the Spine . . . . .	245
Ben Roitberg
19 The Use of Simulation in the Training for Laser Interstitial Thermal Therapy for Amygdalo-hippocampectomy for Mesial Temporal Lobe Epilepsy . . . . .	257
Dali Yin, Aviva Abosch, Steven Ojemann, and Konstantin V. Slavin

20	Future of Visualization and Simulation in Neurosurgery . . . . .	265
	Laura Stone McGuire, Amanda Kwasnicki, Rahim Ismail, Talia Weiss, Fady T. Charbel, and Ali Alaraj
Part V Simulation Training Courses
21	The Role of the NREF Endovascular and Cerebrovascular Courses in Neurosurgical Residency and Fellowship Training and Future Directions . . .	285
	Jay Vachhani, Jaafar Basma, Erol Veznedaroglu, Michael Lawton, Emad Aboud, and Adam Arthur
22	Simulation Training Experience in Neurosurgical Training in Europe . . . . .	293
	Nabeel Saud Alshafai, Wafa Alduais, and Maksim Son
Part VI Non-procedural Training
23	High-Fidelity Simulation in Neuroanaesthesia . . . . .	315
	Barbara Stanley
24	Neurocritical Care Simulation . . . . .	323
	Sabine E. M. Kreilinger
