

CONTENTS

1 INTRODUCTION	1
1.1 DISCARD STUDIES.....	8
1.1.1 Key insights	9
1.1.2 Analytical tools	16
1.2 WHY “FORMALIZE”?	17
1.3 THE MODERNIZATION OF CHINA	22
1.3.1 History and political economy	22
1.3.2 Social stratification	26
1.3.3 Environmentalism	28
1.4 POLITICAL ECOLOGY	36
1.5 THE SELECTIVENESS OF PROGRESS.....	38
1.6 A RHETORIC OF RISKS AND RICHES	43
1.7 THE SCRAPPING STATE	44
1.8 THESIS OUTLINE	46
1.9 TERMINOLOGY	49
1.10 METHODOLOGY.....	51
2 A FRAMING TO BE RECKONED WITH	59
2.1 THE EPITOME OF AN “E-WASTE TRAGEDY”	63
2.1.1 A defining moment: Exporting Harm	63
2.1.2 A determining legacy: Greenpeace China’s awareness campaign	71
2.1.3 Moral morphing by the Chinese media	75
2.1.4 Guiyu versus “green”	80
2.1.5 What people knew	83
2.2 HOMEOWNERS STRIVE FOR FRAME RESONANCE	85
2.2.1 Grassroots activism and middle-class investments	86
2.2.2 One problem can conceal another	101
2.2.3 Invoking other health and environmental woes	103
2.2.4 When two worlds clash	107
2.3 CONCLUSION.....	108
3 NO LONGER THE WORLD’S DUMP	115

3.1 THE WORLD'S SCRAP HEADS TO CHINA	118
3.1.1 Impressive figures and inconclusive data	118
3.1.2 Thriving on others' discards	122
3.1.3 All roads lead to China.....	124
3.1.4 Hong Kong: transshipment heaven	128
3.2 FROM PURELY FORMAL OBSTACLE TO REAL GAME CHANGER	134
3.2.1 Beijing puts up a "no entry" sign	135
3.2.2 Codename: crackdown	140
3.2.3 An ending is also a new beginning.....	152
3.3 A LOOK IN THE MIRROR: CHINA EXPORTS TOO	157
3.3.1 Hong Kong: waking up to the phenomenon	157
3.3.2 Mainland China: "exports? Which exports?"	165
3.4 CONCLUSION.....	167
4 RURAL RECYCLERS' CHANGING FORTUNES.....	175
4.1 DEEE FLOODS THE COUNTRYSIDE	177
4.1.1 From growing crops to growing piles of scrap	177
4.1.2 Black rivers, foul air and diseases	179
4.1.3 Former peasants and cheap manual labor	184
4.1.4 Techniques and material flows	190
4.1.5 The varying fortunes of those who "make a fortune".....	192
4.2 THE TRANSFORMATION, DECLINE AND FALL OF RECYCLING HUBS.....	195
4.2.1 A long period of leniency	196
4.2.2 Grand statements that failed to materialize.....	197
4.2.3 Controls and clean-ups	200
4.2.4 What the eye does not see.....	203
4.2.5 Full-blown crackdowns	205
4.2.6 Maintaining the status quo to contain damage?	212
4.2.7 Enclose and control.....	214
4.2.8 Tough times for rural recycling hubs.....	222
4.3 CONCLUSION.....	224
5 A NEW SYSTEM IS THE ANSWER.....	227
5.1 SETTING UP A NEW SUBSECTOR	230

5.1.1 First attempts, first obstacles	230
5.1.2 The central government steps in	232
5.1.3 Shifting the burden onto producers.....	236
5.1.4 State-sanctioned vertical integration	242
5.1.5 Big is beautiful.....	243
5.1.6 "Feeding on subsidies"	247
5.1.7 The "shredder ideology"	253
5.1.8 Only apparently greener.....	257
5.1.9 Exploited workers everywhere.....	268
5.2 THE RATIONALE BEHIND FORMALIZATION	271
5.2.1 Measuring China against models of modernity.....	272
5.2.2 Ineluctable progress?.....	273
5.2.3 The instruction manual for "formalization"	275
5.2.4 By the state, like the state.....	279
5.3 CONCLUSION	282
6 FIGHTING FOR ACCESS	287
6.1 FIRST COME, FIRST SERVE.....	289
6.1.1 Masters of the "last mile"	290
6.1.2 An obvious choice for residents.....	292
6.1.3 Minimizing costs, maximizing profits.....	301
6.1.4 Making the most of a refrigerator	307
6.1.5 Go where the action is	313
6.2 CONTENDER STRATEGIES	316
6.2.1 If you can't beat them, join them	316
6.2.2 Official endorsement in neighborhoods.....	318
6.2.3 The future lies in digital technology.....	323
6.2.4 Surfing the obsolescence wave	328
6.2.5 Working on the source itself.....	329
6.2.6 Monsters under your bed.....	332
6.2.7 Disregarding and discrediting the market leaders	335
6.3 CONCLUSION.....	338
7 BACK FROM THE DEAD	345

7.1 OBJECT CARE IN THE MIDDLE OF A MEGALOPOLIS.....	347
7.1.1 Mending white and brown goods	347
7.1.2 Tackling cyber breakdown	352
7.1.3 Rescuers or impostors?	355
7.2 ALCHEMY IN A GLOBAL HUB.....	359
7.2.1 Two case studies	364
7.2.2 Opacity, trickery and risk	395
7.2.3 Refurbishing's "formal" cousin	399
7.2.4 Reformers, not revolutionaries	400
7.3 CONCLUSION.....	401
8 CONCLUSION	405
8.1 FORMALIZATION: A SUMMARY À LA GILLE.....	407
8.2 CAN DEEE STAND FOR CHINA'S WASTE REGIME?.....	413
9 REFERENCES	415